Achieve gender equality and empower all women and girls

Feminine Day I Coquette

In celebration of femininity, the Communications Department's project "Feminine Day: Coquette?" aims to break down gender barriers, recognizing that every gender possesses elements of femininity. The event focuses on the physical and mental well-being of participants through special activities, including exhibitions, skincare, nutrition, beauty consultations, and a performance show, featuring artistic performances combined with a catwalk. All genders are welcome to join and experience these activities.
